the European Union

14:00 | Medina Room, Four Seasons Resort, Marrakesh

Agri-food value chains are currently facing multi-faceted challenges including increased pressure on natural resources such as soils and water, loss of biodiversity, and uncertainties associated with climate change. The panel will discuss the current barriers and opportunities to scale up investment in sustainable soil management. It will present innovative business models adopted by the private and public sector and will discuss how IFIs and Paris Agreement instruments can offer solutions to address obstacles to the wider adoption of these practices.
